

LIFE'S WORKSHOP

The High School Graduates Pass into the World Through the Alumni Feast.

SOME BRILLIANT TOASTS.

A. P. Cady's Repartee to Mrs. R. M. Jones' Toast Added Much to the Enjoyment.

The class of '97 high school graduates feasted and communed with the alumni of the school at Hotel Benton last night and they are now full-fledged members of the alumni. Their high school life is over and today they began the work of discovery as to what life had in store for them.

In a business way the class started out in a poor way. Although the promise was strongly impressed that the guests at the banquet would be seated promptly at 8 o'clock, it was 9 o'clock before Frazell's orchestra played the march to which the 150 guests moved to the dining room. The large dining room was nearly filled and for nearly two hours the company happily discussed the six courses of delicacies in which the menu consisted.

At the close of the physical feast Ralph Shauman, president of the alumni, introduced Frank Welton as toastmaster, and added that he was the peer of any after dinner speaker in the Twin cities. The toastmaster blushed beneath the compliment and recovering advised the president not to use so much frosting on his cake for fear it might fall.

F. R. Gilton was introduced to talk on "Our Country." After a funny story he reached Cuba and said that island stands without stretched hands pleading to be released from a heartless master. The people of this country shout encouragement back but their steps are slow. Diplomatic matters are in the way of speedy action. Lincoln was slow in doing his great work but history shows he was right. The people will patiently wait and have faith in the intelligence and humanity of the authorities of the government. Personally, he would like to see this country stretch out her arms and take Cuba, and Hawaii and every orphan island of the sea as well.

In introducing Prof. Wilson in the theme of "Modern Education" the toastmaster hesitated. As he belonged to the alumni he thought he had education but he was a little afraid that his education was not of the "modern" brand. The professor's toast put at rest however the anxious fears of the toastmaster.

"Education in all ages," said Mr. Wilson. "Is the same," and Mr. Wel-

"A ROMANCE OF '61."

This Pretty Story Will be Enacted in Benton Harbor.

The fascinating drama, "A Romance of '61," will be presented in Benton Harbor within a fortnight by professional and amateur talent for the benefit of the Alger Guards, who are desirous of procuring regular uniforms.

Regular rehearsals of the play are being held and the tact exhibited by the actors indicates a successful and eminently satisfactory production of the piece. The luminous theatrical stars, Barton Williams and wife, will appear in the entertainment and their support includes the best talent in the city.

Every citizen in Benton Harbor has a position to assist and encourage the new military organization and the opportunity offered in the benefit performance will not be overlooked.

THE STATE W. C. T. U.

Program Out For the Meeting Here Next Week.

The Michigan W. C. T. U. will hold its state session here next week commencing on Tuesday afternoon and continuing four days. Tuesday afternoon there will be a business meeting and a memorial hour conducted by the state president, Mrs. A. S. Benjamin.

Tuesday evening the music will be in charge of Dr. Kneeland and the devotional exercises led by Rev. George A. Sahlin. Mayor Bell will welcome the convention in behalf of the city, Rev. E. A. Hoffman in behalf of the churches and Mrs. Anna Hunt in behalf of the local W. C. T. U. The response will be delivered by Mrs. W. D. Farley, Battle Creek.

This will be followed by a children's half hour conducted by Mrs. Belle Rowley, state superintendent, and Mrs. A. B. Bisbee local superintendent.

The program is filled with speakers who will make the session alive with interest and enthusiasm. The meeting will be held in the Methodist church and dinners and suppers served in the basement of the Baptist church for 15 cents each.

The Chicago Inter Ocean says of one of the speakers: "Mrs. Britten is pronounced 'The coming woman of the W. C. T. U.' by people who are in a position to know. She has already won a national reputation as a platform speaker."

LOOKS DARK.

S. G. Antisdale Liable to Lose His Appointment.

There is some doubt of S. G. Antisdale's appointment to the office of deputy collector of customs at this port being confirmed.

Since Collector of Customs Farr at Grand Haven appointed Mr. Antisdale it has been learned that the appointee cannot qualify on account of his age, unless the authorities are disposed to overlook this discrepancy.

The law plainly states that all subordinates in the customs department, not in the classified service, must be under 55 years of age and Mr. Antisdale is older than that by several years.

BOATS AND SEAMEN.

The schooner G. W. Naghten is in port with a cargo of lumber for Brookings.

The steamer City of Milwaukee will leave St. Joseph for Chicago tomorrow morning at 4:30 o'clock, returning to her dock here in the afternoon. She will leave on the Chicago run again in the evening and returning from Chicago will arrive here early Monday morning, giving the passengers on the morning boat the entire day in Chicago.

The steamer City of Chicago will go into commission next Saturday. She has been greatly improved and presents a clean and inviting appearance.

The Chicago & Benton Harbor transportation company, organized to operate a boat line between here and Chicago, will open traffic Monday 7. The steamer Fayette, with a capacity of 300 tons, will be put on the route this season under command of Capt. Coates who sailed the Minnie M. last season. Roscoe Farmer will manage the business at this end of the line. His experience and acquaintance makes his services valuable to the new company.

HONOR JUSTLY WON.

Alderman H. B. Volheim Played a Winning Hand With the Legislature.

HOW THE LIEN LAW PASSED.

Horse Shoers Hereafter Will Be Privileged to Attach a Horse for Its Shoes.

Early during the session of the state legislature which closed last night Colonel John Atkinson of Detroit introduced a bill to protect the horse shoers of the state against dead beats who have horses shod. The purpose and advantage of the bill is set forth in section 1 as follows:

ALDERMAN VOLHEIM, Who won the fight for Michigan Horse Shoers.

The people of the state of Michigan enact that every person who shall shoe or cause to be shod by his employees, any horse, mule, ox or other animal shall have a lien upon the animal shod for his reasonable charges for shoeing the same, and each lien conferred by this act shall take precedence of all other liens or claims thereon not duly recorded prior to recording claim of lien as hereinafter provided.

The bill was referred to the committee on state affairs in the house, of which Representative Van Camp of this district was a member. The Michigan master horse shoers' association engaged the services of a Detroit attorney named Kline to look after the bill. While the lawyer was feeding at the best hotel in Lansing at the expense of the horse shoers their bill was killed in committee on motion of Mr. Van Camp.

The horse shoers of the state had great confidence in Alderman Volheim of this city and the officials of the state organization wired Mr. Volheim to go to Lansing and endeavor to resurrect the dead bill. Mr. Volheim went and after fully explaining the bill to Representative Van Camp the man who made the motion a few weeks before to kill the bill now became its advocate and did giant work for the measure. Mr. Volheim was given privileges in the house and the success he won for his craft has brought him telegrams and letters of congratulation from every part of the state. In getting the bill through the senate Mr. Volheim was ably assisted by Senator Blakeslee of Berrien and Senator Merriman of Van Buren.

The task of resurrecting a dead bill is doubly hard and enough to discourage men of ordinary energy, but Mr. Volheim exhibited persistence and tact that will endear him to every master horse-shoer in the state.

YOU WILL FIND

What you want is here. Look well before buying. It's our pleasure to please you. Goods cheap, not cheap goods. An unfair profit would injure us. We sell today to sell tomorrow. A good bargain for you is a gain for us. To satisfy the buyer is our best profit. We want to make our store your store. Our goods makes our prices look small. Misrepresentation is the suicide of trade. We prefer fair criticism to fulsome praise. You can make a little money feel big here. Everything as advertised, or a little better. The cold weather has contracted our prices. No customer must leave the store dissatisfied. Our help is your selection, when you seek it.

We buy for our benefit to sell for your benefit. Our goods please the eye; our prices the purse. Let us both be frank. We like to answer questions. Goods out of sight will be shown at a word from you. We are as ready to exchange goods as to sell them. We want our name to become a "by" word with you. In the union of our goods and our prices there is strength. The footsteps of returning customers are our best solace. To do well may suit some; to surpass everything suits us. A good bargain is talked about. 'Tis our best advertisement. Business is not benevolence, but we will make ours benefit you.

THE DAY'S EXERCISES.

Program for Memorial Day Completed With Many Interesting Features.

SCHOOL PUPILS IN THE PARADE

Line March Will be Over East Main, Sixth, Water, Fifth and Territorial Streets.

The committee from the G. A. R., detailed to arrange for the Memorial day exercises next Monday, has completed its work and if the expectations of the committee are realized this day will witness one of the most impressive and demonstrative ceremonies Memorial day has ever been characterized with in Benton Harbor.

The idea of the committee is to teach the children the full meaning of Decoration day and with this end in view it is arranged to have them appear prominently in every feature of the day's doings. Their part in the procession is a pretty one. Each will carry a flag and will appear in the van of the parade. The G. A. R. hall will be open all day Monday and those desiring to contribute flowers for decorating are invited to leave the same at the hall during the forenoon.

The procession, as arranged by Marshall S. M. Hull, will be formed in this order:

School Children with Banners.
Drum Corps.
Alger Guards.
Ladies of the W. R. C.
City Officials.
Platoon of Police.
Members of the G. A. R.
Citizens on Foot and in Carriages.

The procession will form on Main street under the direction of S. M. Hull, marshal of the day, and start east to Morton cemetery at 1:30 o'clock marching over East Main, Sixth, Water, Fifth and Territorial streets. At the cemetery the G. A. R. ritual services will be held. The graves of the honored dead will be decorated with flowers, after which the procession will return and march to the Methodist church where the following program will be rendered:

Singing by the choir.
Prayer.
Reading of President Lincoln's Gettysburg address.
Singing by the choir.
Memorial address by Rev. W. P. French.

Song, "America," by the audience.

Benediction.
The memorial address to the G. A. R. will be delivered by Rector Woodruff, of the Episcopal church, tomorrow morning. Tomorrow afternoon the members of the G. A. R. will meet at the Episcopal church and proceed in a body to Crystal Springs cemetery where the soldiers' graves will be strewn with flowers. In the evening the veterans will attend the Congregational church where a sermon for their benefit will be delivered by Rev. Brooks.

Sunday, June 6 the Mt. Pleasant, Bethel Pen Yan, Milburg, and other outlying cemeteries will be visited, and soldiers' graves decorated.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas in His Divine Providence it has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst by death our friend and co-worker, Nellie Baker, therefore,

Resolved: That we who have known her as student, fellow teacher and friend, do extend, in behalf of the teachers of Benton Harbor, our sincerest sympathy to the bereaved family in their great loss and do commend them to the consolation of the Divine Comforter.

Rupture Cured.

BERRIEN CENTER, Mich., May 5, 1897.

To my Friends and Acquaintances:

I wish to say that about two years ago I lifted on a barrel of sugar and over done myself and caused a rupture, which became very bad. I consulted several doctors, some at Kalamazoo, Niles and Sodus. All seemed to vary as to conditions, and I got little or no satisfaction and had become almost discouraged. Last fall my wife's father, P. E. O'Brien, commenced a course of treatment with Drs. B. S. & Co. and from their success with him I was persuaded by his family and my wife to call on Dr. Booth and get his opinion. I did so and he seemed to know what he was talking about, and gave me more satisfaction than all others—in fact the only doctor that I had confidence in. He told me it would require an operation to cure me. The doctors at Kalamazoo said it would require an operation and wanted $600 in all. I could not think of that. Dr. Booth told me that the full cost of treatment and operation would be only $100. He did the work and I am O. K. now thanks to the firm of Drs. B. S. & Co. I advise all in need of medical aid to call on them.

A FOXY YOUTH.

Such Was a Man Who Expected to Locate Here.

Last November George E. Davis, an electrician of considerable ability who wore a silk tile and 200 pounds of brass visited Benton Harbor and gave several tests of a new pattern of dynamo he claimed to have patented. He gave several exhibitions at the Great Northern iron works and proposed to start an extensive factory. Later he brought a very intelligent-looking young lady here and introduced her as his wife, and Miss Maud Brown, of Milwaukee, who was the girl, thought she was his wife. They looked at several houses here and decided to purchase the Blackmer home on Colfax avenue.

His wife afterwards learned that Davis had another wife in Chicago. He was arrested in Milwaukee this week and when confronted by the evidence broke down and wept and confessed his guilt. It is learned here that he was sentenced to four years in the penitentiary.

STREET RAILWAY TROUBLES.

when the circuit court commissioner waited in vain for a bid. The stockholders do not wish to have a bid of less than $10,000 considered, and capitalists do not care to bid more than $10. Just what is to become of the property cannot be decided, but cars continue to run.

The transfer of the street railway at Jackson, which has been under negotiation for several months past, is practically completed. The purchaser is W. A. Boland, of Lynn, Mass., as trustee for an eastern syndicate. There are certain conditions which must be carried out by the old company before the formal transfer takes place, among them being the calling in of all the bonds issued by the old company and the securing of an extension of the franchise, making it run full thirty years from date. The new company agrees to expend at least $40,000 at once in refitting the line, to put on six new summer cars and to extend the line to Vandercreek's lake, four miles south of the city.

Paw Paw Lake Steamer.

Coloma Courier: The palace steamer Mary L, built for the transportation of passengers on Paw Paw lake by Messrs Lottridge, will commence making regular trips some time next week, and Saturday, June 5, everybody is invited to go and take a free ride around the lake. The boat will leave the terminal station pier at 2 p. m.

Des Moines, Ia., May 29.—The intercollegiate field day of Iowa colleges was held here yesterday. There were seven events and 136 points. Grinnell was an easy winner. The points scored were as follows: Grinnell, 62½; state university, 31½; Drake university, 21; Agricultural college, 11; State Normal school, 8; upper Iowa university, 2; Cornell college, 0. Nine state records were broken.

Memorial Day in Chicago Schools.

Chicago, May 29.—Memorial Day was appropriately celebrated at all the public schools, the pupils listening to patriotic addresses by ex-soldiers, representing the Grand Army of the Republic, who were assigned to talk to the children on the subject of the civil war and the lessons to be learned from the observance of the day.

A Card.

Considerable has been said in the papers of the recent improvements in the City Steam Laundry and we would cordially invite the public to call and see for themselves.

The large steam ironer, known as a mangle, is in daily operation and does very fine work especially on table linen. The new collar and cuff ironer is also in operation, and does elegant work. We are now prepared to give very low rates on family washing. If you never have visited our laundry we would be pleased to show you through what is without doubt one of the best equipped in Michigan outside of the largest cities.

Respectfully Yours,

 fined $1 and costs by Justice St. Clair.

Dr. A. G. Slocum, of Kalamazoo college, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the high school graduating class tomorrow night in the Methodist church. The doctor will be the guest of John Higman, Jr., while in St. Joseph.

The members of the G. A. R., S. O.
 V. and Pingree Rifles will meet at G.
 A. R. hall tomorrow morning at 9:30 to attend services at the Methodist church where Rev. Hamilton will deliver the memorial address. A large number of school children will take part in the services.

The graduating class of the high school was tendered a reception last night at the home of Miss Laura Bal-dreys, daughter of Justice Baldrey. The reception was given by the junior class and was a very brilliant affair. The house was prettily decorated in flowers and class colors and a tempting supper was served.

Dr. Hattie Schwendener has been in the habit of riding her wheel on the sidewalks under the provisions of an act of the city council a year or more ago allowing physicians with their wheels the full use of the walks as a special permit. On the 24 of this month the new bicycle ordinance went into effect. The worthy doctor rode on the sidewalk yesterday and was made to realize that the doctors have no special permit when an officer arrested her and Justice Baldrey fined her $1 and costs. Mayor Starr appeared as a prosecuting witness.

Declares Her Health Benefited by Paine's Celery Compound.

The enthusiasm and the curiosity provoked by Mme. Sarah Bernhardt has never been equaled in the history of the stage. One talks vaguely of genius, temperament, quick intelligence, passion, nervous mobility, grace, smile, voice, charm, poetry—Mme.
 Sarah Bernhardt has them all.

Bernhardt is today as enthusiastic in her profession as though her career were before her. She works as assiduously during rehearsals as though each performance were her "first night."

No one is more conscientious in all matters pertaining to her life work.
 She knows the incalculable value of health, strength and high spirits as thoroughly as she comprehends the terms of her contracts, and no one knows better than she how essential to her artistic success is a vigorous nervous system.

Mme. Bernhardt writes the following letter:

"I beg leave to state that, according to your instructions, I have used Paine's celery compound, and I am convinced that it is the most powerful nerve strengthener that can be found.

"It is with the greatest pleasure that I send you my sincere testimonial."

Truly yours, Sarah Bernhardt."

Good health is within the reach of every one, not only the wealthy and famous, but the poor as well, who will rely on Paine's celery compound.

All health and disease are not natural.
 One should not compromise with them.
 No one should give in to neuralgia, rheumatism or heart trouble when Paine's celery compound is vouchsafed to drive them entirely out of the system. It has done so in thousands of carefully observed cases.

The nervous debility, sleeplessness and kidney disorders that seems so threatening and disheartening, lose their hopeless, desperate character when one takes Paine's celery compound to drive them out of the system.

Many a woman worn out by exciting, anxious work, will find her strength brought back in a wonderful manner and her overtaxed nerves regulated and nourished by the use of Paine's celery compound. Paine's celery compound braces and invigorates the relaxed nervous system and eradicates harmful humors from the blood. It makes the appetite hearty and the digestion thorough; it permanently cures indigestion, a sluggish action of the liver, and drives out rheumatism, neuralgia and blood impurities. Every trace of nervous exhaustion or kidney or liver weakness is removed by Paine's celery compound.

There are no more striking examples of the great practical value of Paine's celery compound than is heard from the lips of women who have been made well by its vitalizing action.

It increases the volume of the blood in the arteries and makes it more capable of feeding the body. It creates a hearty appetite and urges upon the tired nerves and brain the nourishing elements they lack, but are slow to extract from the blood when it is in a sluggish, unhealthy condition.

The blood becomes ruddy and pure;
 its circulation is hastened, and every function of the body—the brain among the first—feels the fresh impulse of returning health from the use of Paine's celery compound.

Money to Slice Up.

A woman puzzled a Boston clerk considerably recently. Her husband is a bank president in Newburyport. The national banks receive their bills in sheets of 12, which are cut after being signed. The generous president gave one of these sheets to his wife, and she naturally started at once for Boston. After making some purchases in one of the large stores she drew the bills out of her pocketbook and calmly said to the clerk, "Lend me your scissors, and I will pay you," thereupon cutting off a bill. The astounded clerk at first refused to receive such money from so open a manufacturer of currency, but finally the matter was explained.—Boston Record.

Wouldn't Do In Kentucky.

"Now," said the lecturer on natural science before a Kentucky audience, "we will suppose a region in which nothing existed but water." "No! no!" replied a dozen indignant voices at once. "We will suppose nothing of the kind."—Atlanta Constitution.

ton looked happier. The new education means the study of the child, in its nature, ability and tendency. A teacher should be sympathetic. The teacher should become acquainted with the mother as both may be helpful to each other in the training and education of the child. The rod and brute force had given away to the rule of love and among the improvements of the future were mentioned hygienic adjustable seats, the disappearance of slates altogether, and typewriters, pens and paper to displace the dusty and unhealthful blackboards.

Rev. E. A. Hoffman spoke on the "Class of '97." He assured the class that it was no longer composed of base metal but had been transmuted into coin and stamped so as to pass current in the world. It was theirs to go forward and accomplish great things and the earnest injunction was that they consecrate their lives to God and humanity. He cautioned them not to try to undertake the work alone of setting the world right but to let others share the glory with them. Do your part and spell opportunity d-u-b-y.

John Reese, class '97, followed with a well received response.

Mrs. R. M. Jones spoke on "Men" and she pitied herself because she did not have 10,000 tongues to sing the 10,000 virtues of men. She gave the young men directions for selecting a wife, and how to preserve a wife after she was secured. Keeping them in hot water, in a refrigerator, in a perpetual stew and serving them daily with tongue sauce were advised against. Love, comfort and compliments, molasses instead of vinegar, were the best preservatives. The young men were advised to choose their own wives and be deaf to the advice of friends.

Attorney A. P. Cady then followed with the speech of the evening. While the others had come prepared he was unprepared as his was an answer to the lady who spoke on "Men."

"A family visiting in Paris were asked when they would return home, and the lady replied that they had been in Paris so long that they were 'parasites.' I have been so closely connected with the class and have so many friends among the alumni that I feel like an alumnite."

Before settling down to answer the compliments paid the men Mr. Cady remarked that he had partaken liberally of every number on the menu except the French kisses and that he had a date for those with one of the graduates after the banquet.

"Boys, you have listened to directions for preserving a wife. Take my advice, don't preserve your fish until you have caught her. Boys, you will get no chance to marry an angel, but if you do, don't do it. Any woman is too good for us. But you must not tell them so. Many happy engagements have been broken off because the young man was so lavish in his compliments that the young lady thought she was really too good for him and gave him the mitten. I am glad that the wish of woman for 10,000 tongues is not gratified for one is a great plenty.

"If paradise was lost and if man graduated from Eden before the term expired through woman's fault, woman has made another and man rejoices that he fell from the first to enjoy the second paradise prepared by woman. Woman is a thorn to the laggard, a rose to the victor. Woman's approval is the inspiration to the noblest deeds and the highest achievements." The toast closed by eloquent recitations from history where woman's influence had moulded great deeds in the world.

The program closed with a bright address by Edwin C. Edmunds on the "Alumni." He welcomed the class of '97 to the hospitality of the alumni and spoke of the time when his class, that of '94, received with joy the welcome of the alumni. It was 12:30 when the banqueters dispersed.

GRADUATING NOTES.

Many people at the high school graduating exercises wondered where the sound of the ringing of bells came from when the motto of the class of '97 was being shifted out of sight. Stanley Bailey and Earl Merry can best explain the mystery. If they would they could tell you of twelve electric door bells under the pulpit and a wire attached to a button in the gallery. If they would they could tell how scared they were when one of the bells gave a sudden clang during the address of Mr. Fifield. They were afraid the whole collection would join in concert.

The class of '97 had its "pet" the same as classes have had and all classes will have. This honor in the present case fell to John Reese, a resident of Eau Claire. Because he was the "pet" is said to be the reason that the teachers selected him to represent the class at the alumni banquet.

PERSONAL MENTION.

ONLY AN ACROBAT.

The first night of the season at the Hippodrome et Menagerie des Nations was that laughter loving and light hearted city of cities—Paris.

Well might the proprietor, the genial Aristide Milandri, hum a tune as he contentedly counted the "takings," for there was not a seat to spare. One shimmering, sweltering mass of gay Parisians, patiently waiting the idol of every European capital, the one and the only, the inimitable Paolo.

Paolo, better known to his friends and associates as Bob Sinclair, was a young Englishman—a well set up, fresh colored, curly haired Yorkshire lad. Apprenticed as a tiny boy to the proprietor of a traveling circus, he had, willy-nilly, gone through the mill, now horseman, now acrobat, now clown, now ringmaster, anything and everything. A day came at length when, taking advantage of the "strong man" craze, Bob's muscles, thews and sinews suddenly launched him into fame, and as "Paolo, the English Hercules," he blossomed into the sought after "star," whom the crowded houses had paid their hard earned francs to see.

When Paolo stepped into the ring, the public enthusiasm knew no bounds. It would be only taking up space to describe the "strong man" performance, which is now so familiar to everybody.

Though Paolo worked that night as cleverly as usual and without any apparent effort to the eyes of the onlookers, yet within himself he felt weighed down by a strange foreboding that something unusual was about to happen, and he felt really relieved when at last his performance was finished, and he was at liberty to return once more to his dressing room.

Scarcely had the heavy velvet hangings separating the ring from the "back" of the house fallen behind him when his "dressing" rushed breathlessly up to him, his knees almost smiting together and terror contorting every feature of his countenance.

"Heaven help us, M. Paolo!" he gasped. "What shall we do? Scipio has got loose from his cage and is making for the arena. It is the only outlet where he can escape, and le bon Dieu alone can save us!"

Scipio was a huge lion, purchased as a cub by Milandri for exhibition to the patrons of his menagerie. Owing to some carelessness in the fastening of his cage door, the beast had managed to escape, and, attracted by the smell of the horses, was now making his way to the arena, on the opposite side of which the stables were situated. What could Paolo do?

Beads of perspiration stood upon his forehead as he thought of the effects of a sudden stampede among that vast concourse; how in their wild alarm hundreds of women and children—aye, and strong men too—would be crushed and trampled to death.

"Where are Francois, Jean, Pierre and the rest?" he asked.

"All flown, m'sieur; all escaped!"

"Now listen," he said to the attendant. "You are the only one who has shown any pluck, and I won't forget you. Get through my dressing room window, run as fast as your legs can carry you to the barracks at the end of the road, tell the officer on duty what has happened and ask for help. In the meanwhile"—grin—"I will do my best for Mr. Scipio."

As the last sound of the man's hurrying feet down the passage proclaimed him well on his way for help, Paolo hastily snatched up a small stiletto which had been used in a juggling trick during the evening and, concealing it in his vest, stepped once more, to the astonishment and delight of the audience, into the arena.

Whispering a few hasty directions into the ear of a clown who was filling in between the "turns" to stop the next artists from appearing and to close the stable entrances, Paolo made a bow and, holding up his hand for silence, announced:

"Ladies and gentlemen, I cannot thank you efficiently in words for the kindness with which you have received my efforts tonight, so as deeds speak louder than words I shall bring before you for the first time in public my famous trained lion. He and I will give an exhibition of wrestling. Ah, you see him, I think, answering my challenge," as a loud roar burst from behind the curtains and caused a few of the timid to move uneasily in their seats.

...the magnificent bound the no-
...was through the curtains and

...wondrous light—the light of love—glows in
...the tender eyes—
...her breath is warm upon my face—Oh, sweet-
...est of replies!
...But, bless my heart! The driving rain is com...ing in, I fear.
...it is that shining little drop upon the page a
...tear?
...well, who would think an old gray head could
...be so soft as this
...When more than thirty years have fled since
...that fond, foolish kiss!
—John Scott in Chambers' Journal.

...had traced his limits to give
...himself a strong position in expectation
...of Scipio's onrush, his weapon conceal...ed in the hollow of his hand, and as he ...stood in all the grace and strength of
...his magnificent manhood, every symp-
...tom of fear vanished, he felt within
...himself that he almost welcomed the
...moment that would bring to him victory
...or death.

Little time for thought, however, had Paolo. With one fell spring the mighty beast was at him, his open jaws dripping froth, his bloodshot eyes blazing with fury.

But not this time did he grasp his intended prey, for quick as thought the practiced eye of the acrobat detected the movement, and bending forward, head and knees almost touching the ground, he made a rapid shift in the opposite direction and avoided by almost a hairbreadth being crushed beneath the lion's bulk.

Quick as lightning's flash the lion turned once more, crouching low in the dust, his eye warily seeking some weak spot in the armor of this strange antagonist, whose lithe limbs and sinuous movements puzzled him, and who showed less signs of fear facing him here in open fight than the crowds of frail humanity who had mocked and jeered at him so often from the safe side of his prison bars, but who shrank back affrighted when in his wrath he gave his awful battle roar.

This time, with catlike tread, he slowly advanced upon his adversary, striving, as though conscious of his power and strength, to drive him back and pen him helplessly and without chance of escape against the side of the ring, and then to seize him at his leisure.

Paolo was also thinking. When would the soldiers come? Could he survive to carry on the unequal struggle till they arrived? But while thinking not a muscle relaxed.

Seeing the lion's tactics, he gradually managed to skirmish toward the ring, though by so doing he passed within a few feet of his nose.

"Come on, Scipio," he said aloud, with a gay bravado he little felt, "this is not how lions fight." And he made a slight feint, as though playfully to touch his adversary on the head.

With a deep, hollow roar of anger Scipio reared aloft on his hind legs, and, throwing all prudence to the winds and realizing that the momentous struggle had come at last, Paolo rushed madly at him, man and beast closing in a terrible death grapple, the lion continuing erect, as though wishing to wrestle on equal terms with the brave biped.

In the swift onrush Paolo dropped his dagger, and now, weaponless but frenzied with rage and despair, he exerted every atom of his marvelous strength and with one giant upheaval overthrew the wild beast.

But Scipio's mighty claws were busy, and the blood lust was on him too. Crimson streaks through Paolo's tunic made it apparent to the fascinated beholders that this little wrestling bout was not all that it seemed, and many a timid heart, sickened by the sight of blood, edged furtively toward the nearest outlet.

But what sound is this that breaks the spell and causes the low whispers of inquiry to swell into a babel of tongues? In another moment the semi-solitude of the arena is broken by the appearance of a body of soldiers from the neighboring barracks, all converging rapidly on one point where lay the doughty combatants.

The young officer in command, hastily disengaging a revolver from his belt, fires one, two, three shots into the prostrate brute's ear, and with one mighty groan the spirit of the erring Scipio returns to haunt the solitudes of the African deserts.

Tender hands lift Paolo, unconscious, bleeding and nigh to death. He is borne from the arena as the audience slowly files out of the building under the masterful direction of some of the soldiers told off for the purpose—silent, awe stricken, sobbing, praying, walking as in a trance.

In a peaceful little God's acre just outside the walls of Paris sleeps Paolo. His grave all the year round blooms with lovely flowers, and its fond tending shows that, though his body has passed away, his memory still flourishes as brightly as the blossoms that wave over him.—London Answers.

The Charm of a College Room.

A college room is a delightful place. Its occupant for the time being is its master. He can do as he will in it—lock his door and be not at home, admit all comers, sit alone and read or study, or sit with his congenial friend and talk out whatever he may have the good fortune to have in his mind. One Harvard graduate certainly, who found many pleasures of very varied sorts in college, remembers very few with such a sense of solid comfort duly taken as certain talks had in college rooms with good men, though young, about letters and life and people, the immediate environment and the greater world on the brink of which all college men stand. Music has charms, superlative charms, in college too.

In this same graduate's memory there are few musical associations more consoling than the memory of what he heard, half asleep in a chair before a fire, while a good musician who was his classmate sat at his piano in the corner. Some of the calmest and most peaceful memories of college are the best. The more boisterous pleasures we smile to recall and wonder as we remember them at the vigor and the folly of youth. But about those quieter streaks of happiness there was no folly and they involved no remorse.—Edward A. Martin in Scribner's.

SENATORS FORE AND AFT,

...Amputation Newspaper Charges ... They Are Using Their Official Position to "Milk" the Market for Sugar ... It is Time to Have a House- ... Either of Unworthy Members or Special Correspondents.

Washington, May 29.—After a long period of silence, Tillman of South Carolina started the senate yesterday by a speech no less dramatic in its delivery than sensational in its allegations. He proceeded by presenting a resolution for the appointment of a special committee of five senators to investigate charges of speculation by senators while the tariff bill was before the finance committee. In advocating the resolution Tillman threw aside the usual conventionalities of the senate and with a plainness of speech seldom heard about the halls of congress called on his associates to investigate the published charges of senatorial speculation, and if found true to purge the senate of those who de- bauched it.

Work on the Tariff Moves Smoothly. Aldrich, in charge of the tariff bill, replied to Tillman in a sweeping denial. The Tillman resolution was referred to the committee on contingent expenses of the senate. Considerable progress was made on the tariff bill, thirteen pages being covered. Several votes were taken during the day, but the finance committee had a liberal majority in every instance. The Democratic members of the finance committee made a strong effort to reduce the rates on window glass, but their amendments to this effect were defeated. The bill will be considered today, the usual Saturday recess being abandoned.

Quotes the Charges of Specials. Tillman's resolution quotes the senate resolution of May 17, 1894, authorizing the original inquiry, and after reciting the proceedings in the Chapman and Havemeyer trials proceeds: "Whereas, within the last thirty days sundry newspaper correspondents have openly charged senators with speculating in sugar stocks while the sugar schedule was under discussion, and also charged that brokers in New York knew in advance as to what the senate finance committee would report as to the sugar schedule, all of which involves a question of the highest privilege, to-wit: the right of the senate to protect its members from slander and to protect the body as a whole from these open charges of corruption; therefore, be it

Made Its Hoops Up-to-Date. "Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed with power to send for persons and papers, to employ a stenographer and to administer oaths; to inquire into the truth of the charges made in May, 1894, and into the charges recently made, and the scope of the investigation shall cover everything embraced in the resolution of May 17, 1894, as well as the methods pursued by the American Sugar Refining company, between the sugar trust, in connection with its legislation in its favor at the present time; and especially whether it has in anywise contributed to or controlled the election of a senator in this body at any time."

Thinks the Charges Should Be Met. The presiding officer (Frye) promptly ruled that the resolution should go to the committee on contingent expenses, but Tillman objected to make a statement: "We have voted at a time," he began, "and the damage offered to the senate by the accusations made against senators. If there are men here, abusing the senate then we should be purged of them. If these reports are slanders, then the press galleries should be purged. We cannot afford to lay back on our dignity any longer and say we will not investigate."

WHAT CLEVELAND SAID TO JONES,

May Means That He Was Bought Also, Says the Carolina Statesman.

It had been charged that President Cleveland met the sugar magnates on a yacht and discussed details of the sugar schedule of the then pending tariff bill. There was nothing to fasten that damning accusation on the president, Tillman said, but Jones of Arkansas had recently furnished evidence to the effect that the president told him: "I trust should have 1/4 cent a pound. Jones quickly arose and stated that on two occasions Cleveland had said to him that he thought the 1/4 cent on raw sugar was necessary to the American refineries, and that an 1/4 cent would drive the refineries out of business. Proceeding Tillman said it might be that Cleveland desired to carry out a bargain, and if so the senate ought to find it out.

Here Gray of Delaware, chairman of the former sugar investigating committee, interrupted. The statement, he said, that a sugar schedule had been made on Benedict's yacht when the president was on board with officers of the sugar trust, was not true, and its falsity had been established after the committee had probed the statement to the bottom.

Continuing Tillman exclaimed: "Both parties are involved and one is as deep in the mud as the other is in the mire. You know of the reports against certain members of the old finance committee, and now we have more damning accusations against the present committee." Pettus of Alabama interrupted to ask Tillman not to deal in generalities, but to put a mark on the senators by name. "That is what I want an inquiry for, to mark these men," responded Tillman. "I do not want the poor man to suffer while the millionaires are turned loose." After protests from Pettus that Tillman should name at least one senator accused, Tillman said he would present specifications, and had read a number of signed articles in the newspapers of New York, Chicago, and elsewhere, making various charges against senators, some by name. The first article began: "Smith ahead on sugar," and spoke of the New Jersey senators selling 5,000 shares of sugar stock short at a profit of $5,000. Smith was not in the senate at the time. Another article spoke of the large profits to senators and stated that 5,000 shares of sugar stock had been handled the day before

"Let us not say we are the Democratic sheep with the Republican goats," he said, "but let's have a fumigation." It was not a time when senators should sit here apparently alienated by cowardice or corruption. The Republicans had received the recent campaign contributions from "the octopus," he said, and it should be brought to the light before the American people. If this "gang of thieves and robbers" were to have all they wanted, then let the American laboring man realize what a glorious senate represented him at Washington. In conclusion Tillman reiterated that if the senate is "rotten to the bottom," it should be proved. If these charges were false then the lies should be laid bare. If the charges were true, then, he said, the guilty senators should be turned out and the senate purged.

ALDRICH REPLIES TO TILLMAN.

Sugar Trust Had Nothing Whatever to Do with the Schedule.

Aldrich, Republican member of the finance committee in charge of the tariff bill, immediately took the floor as Tillman closed. It had been charged, or inferred, he said, that the sugar trust dictated the sugar schedule. "But I desire to say to the senate, to the senator [Tillman] and to every man in the United States that no person connected with the sugar trust at any time or at any place influenced the framing of the sugar schedule or received information as to its character. I desire to make the statement as broad as the English language can make it." Aldrich said that no living person outside of the members of the committee had any information as to the subject until thirty-six hours before it was reported.

Then the senator from Nevada [Jones] had been shown the schedule. No human being beyond this had received the slightest information. "And any man who says so, or intimates so," added Aldrich, "deserves to be denounced in a way which would not be parliamentary here."

Tillman interrupted to say that he had not made the charges; he had merely submitted public statements with the authors' names signed.

Aldrich, proceeding, said the fullest investigation was conducted; there was nothing to conceal. No information ever went from that committee room to any telephone, to any one. He (Aldrich) had never bought or sold a share of sugar stock. It was easy for correspondents to make such charges, but they were absolutely false. Without further debate the resolution was referred to the committee on contingent expenses, and on motion of Aldrich the senate took up the tariff bill.

Jones of Nevada, chairman of the committee on contingent expenses of the senate, has not yet called a meeting of his committee for the purpose of considering the Tillman resolution. It is believed to be probable that the resolution will be reported back to the senate, and that the senate will order an investigation. There may be some delay on the part of the committee in acting on the resolution, but the presumption is that if a report is not soon forthcoming a motion will be made to discharge the committee and bring the resolution before the senate. That would mean a direct vote, and it is believed probable that on such a proposition the senate would vote to consider the resolution and order the investigation. The declaration of Senator Aldrich that the members of the sub-committee on finance courted the fullest investigation is regarded by some senators as a challenge which must be met, and can be met only with an investigation.

Trial of Sugar Trust Seals.

Washington, May 29.—The trial of John E. Searles, secretary of the American Sugar Refining company, yesterday followed that of President Havemeyer, who was acquitted Thursday by order of Judge Bradley. The government presented its case very briefly, whereupon the defense, following the tactics pursued in the Havemeyer case, moved that the judge order an acquittal for three reasons, viz: That the questions Searles refused to answer were irrelevant to the inquiry; that they were individual, not committee questions, and that even if they were authorized by the senate resolution the senate did not possess jurisdiction. The motion was argued at length by the counsel on both sides, after which the court adjourned until Tuesday when Judge Bradley will deliver his ruling.

SCHEME OF ROBBERY NIPPED.

It Was Well-Planned, but One of the Plotters Gave It Away.

Portland, Or., May 29.—A scheme to rob the postoffice in this city was disclosed yesterday afternoon, and as a result Julian Epping, chief clerk of the registry department; City Jailor Watson, Detective Holsapple, Eugene Gaulier, and a man by the name of Simpson are all under arrest for conspiracy. The scheme was to bind and gag Epping, who would previously arrange to have his safe open. Holsapple and Watson were to be waiting at the city jail when the alarm was turned in, and were to rush to the postoffice, take charge of the case and insure Simpson's getting away with the booty. The conspiracy was disclosed by Gaulier.

Senators One More Bombardment.

STATEMENT FOR AND AFT,

Amunition Newspaper Charges That They Are Using Their Official Position to "Milk" the Market for Sugar—It Is Time to Have a House-keeping Either of Unworthy Members or Special Correspondents.

Washington, May 23.—After a long period of silence, Tillman of South Carolina startled the senate yesterday by a speech no less dramatic in its delivery than sensational in its allegations. He proceeded to present a resolution for the appointment of a special committee of five senators to investigate charges of speculation by senators while the tariff bill was before the finance committee. In advocating the resolution Tillman threw aside the usual conventionalities of the senate and with a plainness of speech seldom heard about the halls of congress called on his associates to investigate the published charges of senatorial speculation, and if found true to purge the senate of those who debauched it.

Work on the Tariff Moves Smoothly. Aldrich, in charge of the tariff bill, replied to Tillman in a sweeping denial. The Tillman resolution was referred to the committee on contingent expenses of the senate. Considerable progress was made on the tariff bill, thirteen pages being covered. Several votes were taken during the day, but the finance committee had a liberal majority in every instance. The Democratic members of the finance committee made a strong effort to reduce the rates on window glass, but their amendments to this effect were defeated. The bill will be considered today, the usual Saturday recess being abandoned.

Quotes the Charges of Specials. Tillman's resolution quotes the senate resolution of May 17, 1894, authorizing the original inquiry, and after reciting the proceedings in the Chapman and Havemeyer trials proceeded: "Whereas, within the last thirty days sundry newspaper correspondents have openly charged senators with speculating in sugar stocks while the sugar schedule was under discussion, and also charged that brokers in New York knew in advance as to what the senate finance committee would report as to the sugar schedule, all of which involves a question of the highest privilege, to-wit: the right of the senate to protect its members from slander and to protect the body as a whole from these open charges of corruption; therefore, be it

Made Its Scope Up-to-Date. "Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed with power to send for persons and papers, to employ a stenographer and to administer oaths; to inquire into the truth of the charges made in May, 1894, and into the charges recently made, and the scope of the investigation shall cover everything embraced in the resolution of May 17, 1894, as well as the methods pursued by the American Sugar Refining company, better known as the sugar trust, in controlling legislation in its favor at the present time; and especially whether it has in anywise contributed to or controlled the election of a senator in this body at any time."

Thinks the Charges Should Be Met. The presiding officer (Frye) promptly ruled that the resolution should go to the committee on contingent expenses, but Tillman obtained consent to make a statement: "We have arrived at a time," he began, "when the senate can no longer afford to rest under the damning accusations made against senators. If there are men here debauching the senate then we should be purged of them. If these reports are slanders, then the press galleries should be purged. We cannot afford to lay back on our dignity any longer and say we will not investigate."

WHAT CLEVELAND SAID TO JONES.

May Means That He Was Bought Also, Says the Carolina Statesman.

It had been charged that President Cleveland met the sugar magnates on a yacht and discussed details of the sugar schedule of the then pending tariff bill. There was nothing to fasten that damning accusation on the president. Tillman said, but Jones of Arkansas had recently furnished evidence to the effect that the president told him the trust should have 1/4 cent a pound. Jones quickly arose and stated that on two occasions Cleveland had said to him that he thought the 1/4 cent on raw sugar was necessary to the American refineries, and that an 1/4 cent would drive the refineries out of business. Proceeding Tillman said it might be that Cleveland desired to carry out a bargain, and if so the senate ought to find it out.

Here Gray of Delaware, chairman of the former sugar investigating committee, interrupted. The statement, he said, that a sugar schedule had been made on Benedict's yacht when the president was on board with officers of the sugar trust, was not true, and its falsity had been established after the committee had probed the statement to the bottom.

Continuing Tillman exclaimed: "Both parties are involved and one is as deep in the mud as the other is in the mire. You know of the reports against certain members of the old finance committee, and now we have more damning accusations against the present committee." Pettus of Alabama interrupted to ask Tillman not to deal in generalities, but to put a mark on the senators by name. "That is what I want an inquiry for, to mark these men," responded Tillman. "I do not want the poor man to suffer while the millionaires are turned loose."

After protests from Pettus that Tillman should name at least one senator accused, Tillman said he would present specifications, and had read a number of signed articles in the newspapers of New York, Chicago, and elsewhere, making various charges against senators, some by name. The first article began: "Smith ahead on sugar," and spoke of the New Jersey senators selling 5,000 shares of sugar stock short at a profit of $5,000. Smith was not in the chamber at the time. Another article spoke of the large profits to senators and stated that 500 shares of sugar stock had been handled in the day before yesterday.

"Let us let the Democrats keep with the Republican goats," he said, "but let's have a fumigation." It was not a time when senators should sit here apparently silenced by cowardice or corruption. The Republicans had received the recent campaign contributions from "the octopus," he said, and it should be brought to the light before the American people. If this "gang of thieves and robbers" were to have all they wanted, then let the American laborer man realize what a glorious senate represented him at Washington. In conclusion Tillman reiterated that if the senate is "rotten to the bottom," it should be proved. If these charges were false then the lies should be laid bare. If the charges were true, then, he said, the guilty senators should be turned out and the senate purged.

ALDRICH REPLIES TO TILLMAN.

Sugar Trust Had Nothing Whatever to Do with the Schedule.

Aldrich, Republican member of the finance committee in charge of the tariff bill, immediately took the floor as Tillman closed. It had been charged, or inferred, he said, that the sugar trust dictated the sugar schedule. "But I desire to say to the senate, to the senator (Tillman) and to every man in the United States that no person connected with the sugar trust at any time or at any place influenced the framing of the sugar schedule or received information as to its character. I desire to make the statement as broad as the English language can make it." Aldrich said that no living person outside of the members of the committee had any information as to the subject until thirty-six hours before it was reported.

Then the senator from Nevada (Jones) had been shown the schedule. No human being beyond this had received the slightest information. "And any man who says so, or intimates so," added Aldrich, "deserves to be denounced in a way which would not be parliamentary here."

Aldrich, proceeding, said the fullest investigation was conducted; there was nothing to conceal. No information ever went from that committee room to any telephone, to any one. He (Aldrich) had never bought or sold a share of sugar stock. It was easy for correspondents to make such charges, but they were absolutely false. Without further debate the resolution was referred to the committee on contingent expenses, and on motion of Aldrich the senate took up the tariff bill.

Jones of Nevada, chairman of the committee on contingent expenses of the senate, has not yet called a meeting of his committee for the purpose of considering the Tillman resolution. It is believed to be probable that the resolution will be reported back to the senate, and that the senate will order an investigation. There may be some delay on the part of the committee in acting on the resolution, but the presumption is that if a report is not soon forthcoming a motion will be made to discharge the committee and bring the resolution before the senate. That would mean a direct vote, and it is believed probable that on such a proposition the senate would vote to consider the resolution and order the investigation. The declaration of Senator Aldrich that the members of the sub-committee on finance courted the fullest investigation is regarded by some senators as a challenge which must be met, and can be met only with an investigation.

Trial of Sugar Trust Searles.

Washington, May 23.—The trial of John E. Searles, secretary of the American Sugar Refining company, yesterday followed that of President Havemeyer, who was acquitted Thursday by order of Judge Bradley. The government presented its case very briefly, whereupon the defense, following the tactics pursued in the Havemeyer case, moved that the judge order an acquittal for three reasons, viz: That the questions Searles refused to answer were irrelevant to the inquiry; that they were individual, not committee questions, and that even if they were authorized by the senate resolution the senate did not possess jurisdiction. The motion was argued at length by the counsel on both sides, after which the court adjourned until Tuesday when Judge Bradley will deliver his ruling.

SCHEME OF ROBBERY NIPPED

It Was Well-Planned, but One of the Plotters Gave It Away.

Portland, Ore., May 23.—A scheme to rob the postoffice in this city was disclosed yesterday afternoon, and as a result Julian Epping, chief clerk of the registry department; City Jailor Watson, Detective Holsapple, Eugene Gaulier, and a man by the name of Simpson are all under arrest for conspiracy. The scheme was to bind and gag Epping, who would previously arrange to have his safe open. Holsapple and Watson were to be waiting at the city jail when the alarm was turned in, and were to rush to the postoffice, take charge of the case and insure Simpson's getting away with the booty. The conspiracy was disclosed by Gaulier.

Scores on the Ball Field.

Chicago, May 23.—The following are the scores on the diamond made by League clubs: At New York—St. Louis 2, New York 8; at Chicago—Philadelphia 11, Chicago 7; elsewhere, rain. Western League: At Milwaukee—Indianapolis 3, Milwaukee 11; at Kansas City—Grand Rapids 9, Kansas City 3; at Minneapolis—Columbus 9, Minneapolis 2; at St. Paul—Detroit 2, St. Paul 14. Western Association: At Cedar Rapids—St. Joseph 4, Cedar Rapids 8.

Pabst Strike Has Been Settled.

Milwaukee, May 23.—The strike of the union employees engaged on the Empire building, being reconstructed by the Pabst Brewing company, has been settled, the brewing company taking the contract away from the men who had it on an agreement to employ none but union men, which they violated, and giving it to another firm, with instructions to employ none but union men.

Amalgamated Association Adjourns.
